MURRAY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1917

10 CENTS PER YEAR

JUNE 5 IS DAY FIXED BY PRESIDENT TO REGISTER

All Persons Between Ages of 21 to 31 Must Present Themselves on That Day

The whole machinery of this great nation is being put in action looking toward raising a vast army and with the purpose of waging a vigorous war. Calloway people are very much interested in these matters and that they might be fully informed the Ledger is publishing the president's proclamation in full. The registration of persons of military age will be under the direction of Sheriff W. A. Patterson, County Court Clerk Clint Branch and County Health Officer P. A. Hart, who received telegrams from Gov. Stanley Tuesday appointing them to take charge of the work. They immediately wired back that they would serve without compensation, and Wednesday completed the task of appointing registrars for each voting precinct in the county, who will also serve without pay. Their names are as follows:

Southeast Murray, R. E. Clayton and Robt. Simpson; northeast Murray, Albert Lassiter and J. A. Edwards; northwest Murray, Deimus Pardon and O. H. Jagers; southwest Murray, Gaston Pool and Will Fulton; Hazel, H. I. Neely and Edgar Underwood; Fair, Will Johnson and Dave Padgett; south Swan, John Clark and France Humphreys; north Swan, Fred James and W. B. Howard; south Brinkley, Herman Adams and Jim Bailey; north Brinkley, Sam Houser and Mac Boyd; Jackson, Elvie Edmonds and J. W. Clark; Almo, Sam Stephenson and G. C. Dean; north Liberty, Kelsie Holland and Aubrey Ross; south Liberty, Brown Guerin and Bruce Holland; south Concord, Elbert Lassiter and Calvin Stubblefield; north Concord, Johnnie Bucy and Lee Outland.

The sheriff and county court clerk asks that the above named registrars apply at the sheriff's office at once and secure instructions, registration cards and other necessary blanks.

Every Calloway citizen of military age is urged to go and register on June 5. The penalty for refusing is heavy.

Following is also published the provisions of the law setting forth persons who are subject to exemption, but understand that this will not exempt persons from registration. All persons from 21 to 30 years of age must register on the date fixed in the president's proclamation. Read the following article carefully and then make your preparations to comply with the law:

Washington, May 18.—President Wilson's proclamation putting into effect the selective draft provision of the War Act

my Bill, which was signed to-night follows:

Proclamation by the President of the United States:

"Whereas, Congress has enacted and the President on the 18th day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen approved, which contains the following provisions:

SECTION FIVE.

That all male persons between the ages of 21 and 30, both inclusive, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the President. Upon proclamation by the President or other public notice given by him or his direction stating the time and place of such registration, it shall be the duty of all persons of designated ages, except officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, Navy, National Guard or Naval Militia, while in the service of the United States, to present themselves and submit to registration under the provisions of this act.

And every such person shall be deemed to have notice of the requirements of this act upon publication of the proclamation or other notice as aforesaid, given by the President or his direction. And any person who shall wilfully fail or refuse to present himself for registration and submit thereto, as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction in a District Court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, and shall thereupon be duly registered.

Provided, that in the call of the docket precedence shall be given, in courts trying the same to the trial of criminal proceedings under this act. Provided further, that persons shall be subject to registration herein provided who have attained their twenty-first birthday or who shall not have attained their thirty-first birthday on or before the day set for registration, and all persons so registered shall be, and remain subject to draft into the forces hereby authorized, unless exempted or excused therefrom as in act provided.

Correspondence in the execution of this act may be carried in penalty envelopes bearing the frank of the war department.

Any person charged as herein provided with the duty of carrying into effect any of the provisions of this act or the regulations made or directions given thereunder who shall fail or neglect to perform such duty, and any persons charged with such duty or having and exercised any authority under said act, regulations or directions who shall knowingly make or be a party to the making of any false or incorrect registration, physical examination, exemption, enlistment, enrollment or muster, and any person who shall make or be a party to the making of any false statement or certificate as to the fitness or liability of himself or any other person for service under the provisions of this act or regulations made by the President thereunder, or otherwise evades or aids another to evade the requirements of this act or of said regulations, or who in any manner shall fail or neglect fully to perform any duty required of him in the execution of this act, shall, if not subject to military law, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction in the District Court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or, if subject to military law, shall be tried by court martial and suffer such punishment as a court martial may direct. Provided further that in case of temporary absence from actual place of legal residence of any person liable to registration as provided herein such registration may be made by mail under regulations to be prescribed by the President.

SECTION SIX.

That the president is hereby authorized to utilize the service of any or all departments and any or all officers or agents of the United States and of the several States, Territories and the District of Columbia, and subdivisions thereof, in the execution of this act, and all officers and agents of the United States or the several States, Territories and subdivisions thereof and of the District of Columbia,

CLOSE CONTEST IN MURRAY HIGH SCHOOL FOR THE MEDAL

The contest for the Higgins medal in the senior class of the Murray High School this year was closer than ever before. Five of the graduates had an average above 92, and three of them tied for first place and received each a medal, and the other two were within seven-tenths of one percent of those winning medals. Those receiving medals were Misses Maryleona Bishop and Evelyn Linn and Mr. John Shelton. Those getting second honors were Misses Virginia McElrath and Laurine Wells.

Mr. Shelton is a son of R. W. Shelton and has been engaged to teach the Outland school the next session, which insures a most excellent school for the initiation of the new building.

Little Child is Badly Burned.

Friday morning of last week, Herbert, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Story, residing on the farm of Lester Taylor, on Hazel route 1, was badly burned.

The mother was just outside the door and the children were in the room playing and the little fellow was playing in the ashes where there were just a few coals and caught fire. The blaze burning the front of his clothing from his body which was burned badly and one hand was also burned. Dr. A. F. Paschall was called in and dressed the burns. While the child is seriously burned he is said to be resting very well and hopes are entertained for his recovery. Hazel News.

TOBACCO BRINGS GOOD PRICES IN GRAVES COUNTY

Tobacco dealers and buyers are making trips through the county now in search of unsold tobacco, of which there is said to be very much still in the barns. The farmers have been so busy looking after their crops that they have not had time to haul their tobacco to the market and many seem to be content in holding it until prices advance. The market is still strong, in fact, the prevailing prices are better than they have been for the past two months or more. Because of the small deliveries to the Mayfield market most of the barns have not been working at large, having prized up all of the stock and are waiting for further deliveries. Mayfield Messenger.

Ten Thousand Expected to Sing.

May 27 is the date for the annual Old Harmony Singing at Benton, Ky., and Col. Jim Lamson, father of the vocal carnival, expects 10,000 people to attend this year. With pretty weather the colonel expects no less than a thousand automobiles to wend their way to Marshall county for the big event this year, and immense preparations are being made to receive the crowd.

TWELVE QUESTIONS WILL BE ASKED ON REGISTRATION DAY

The War Department has prepared a list of twelve questions which every man, who has reached his twenty-first birthday and who has not attained his thirty-first birthday, will be required to answer on registration day, which is June 5. These questions are printed on cards and after each question blank lines are left for the registrars to write your answers. After the cards are filled out men registering will be required to sign their names at the bottom of same. Following is the list of questions:

1. Name in full. Age in years.
2. Home address.
3. Date of birth.
4. Are you (1) a natural born citizen, (2) a naturalized citizen, (3) an alien, (4) or have you declared your intention? (Specify which?)
5. Where were you born?
6. If not a citizen, of what country are you a citizen or subject?
7. What is your present trade, occupation or office?
8. By whom employed? Where employed?
9. Have you a father, mother, wife, child under 12, or a sister or brother under 12, solely dependent on you for support (specify which?)
10. Married or single (which)? Race (specify which)?
11. What military service have you had? Rank. Branch. Years. Nation or State.
12. Do you claim exemption from draft (specify grounds)?

Women's Clubs Meet in Fulton.

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs was convened in Fulton, May 22, to May 25, the most prominent women of the state are present at this meeting. Unusual interest is felt in the election of officers this year. The officers to be filled are: President, first vice president, corresponding secretary and general federation secretary. Mrs. Luther C. Willis, of Shelbyville, is a candidate for president and the Paducah clubs voted unanimously to support Mrs. W. J. Hills, of that city for first vice-president.

The following state chairmen are to be elected: Education, Library Extension, Civics, Social Hygiene, Industrial and Child Labor, Legislative Art.

Among the Paducah women who are there to speak: Mrs. E. G. Boone, state regent of the D. A. R., Mrs. W. J. Hills, chairman of the First district, Mrs. Andrew J. Campbell, state chairman of Civics, Mrs. H. G. Reynolds, state treasurer, Mrs. James Wellie, Mrs. Mayme Drayfuss Greunebaum and Mrs. George B. Hart will render musical selections.

Mrs. E. J. Beale, of Murray, is a candidate from West Kentucky for chairman of music. She is a member of two federated clubs. Mesdames J. P. McElrath, G. B. Scott, J. E. Owen, Chas. Farmer and Miss Bernice Edwards are delegates from the Women's Club. Mrs. McElrath is a member of the Committee on Courtiers. The Art and Crafts club sent Mrs. S. Higgins and Mrs. Mamie Randolph.

The Civic League sent Mrs. O. J. Jennings, member of the Plan of Work Committee. Mrs. E. J. Beale, Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. M. T. Morris.

Lexington Has Bad Fire.

Lexington, Ky., May 21—Fire early today destroyed a block of buildings in the business district entailing an estimated loss of a half million. Other estimates of the loss said it was probably six hundred thousand and might reach three quarters of a million.

The blaze originated in a livery stable, destroying or damaging most of the buildings in the block bounded by Limestone, Short, Upper and Church streets with the exception of the McClelland office building and a few structures fronting on North Upper street. The flames leaped across Church street and burned several buildings on the south side of that thoroughfare. Sparks fired the Second Presbyterian church a block away and it was gutted. The Winchester and Paris Fire Departments arrived after the flames were subdued.

25,000 Pounds Sold.

About 25,000 pounds of tobacco was sold on the loose leaf floor here Wednesday. Leaf brought from $10 to $12, most of it going at from $11.50 to $12. Prices received for lugs were from $9 to $9.50. There were very few rejections.

Miss Ruth Parker, of this city is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. H. Briggs, of Jackson, Tenn.

MOB AT FULTON QUIETLY HANGS NEGRO TO CABLE

Fulton, Ky., May 20.—An assault with a razor upon Clarence Dublin, an Illinois Central watchman, May 8, was avenged this morning, when unknown persons forced an entrance into the city jail, took possession of Lawrence Dempsey, negro, accused of cutting Dublin, and hanged him to a telephone cable, just a few feet from the jail building. So quietly was the work done that no one was aroused. So far as is known only the men who actually participated in the lynching know who took the law into their own hands.

A coroner's jury which was summoned immediately after the body of the negro had been discovered returned the following verdict: "Being advised from the evidence we do adjudge that Lawrence Dempsey came to his death by being hanged by the neck by unknown parties, cause of same being unknown."

The first intimation that something was wrong was discovered by Night Officer Walter Shupe, when he, passing the jail at 3:15 this morning, noticed that the lock on the outer door had been knocked off. A four-inch iron pipe, eight feet long, lying on the ground, is believed to have been used in breaking open the door. Shupe knew that the negro had been imprisoned in the jail and not finding him started to search for him. Immediately behind the jail the body of the negro was found swinging from a rope, which had been attached to a telephone cable.

Chief of Police Eaker was notified at once and he summoned Coroner H. C. Barnett, of Hickman, who, with County Judge Stahr and County Attorney James Roney, hastened to the scene. Together they conducted the inquest before a jury, composed of Roy Sawyer, Henry Richmond, Wess McCuan, A. S. Harris, George Jones and F. C. Shoate. The only witnesses were Officers Shupe and E. D. Henderson. The above verdict was rendered. It is not known if a further investigation will be made.

Dempsey was caught at Greenfield, Tenn., Friday and brought here the same night. He was sent to Paducah and identified by Dublin, who is in the Illinois Central hospital. No one doubts that he was the negro who cut Dublin. When he attacked the latter he lost his hat, coat and vest. These articles were sent to Greenfield and seventeen white people swore that the articles belonged to the negro.

Rev. Bethshares, of Dawson Springs, conducted the annual foot washing services at the Old Salem church just east of town. This is probably the oldest church in Calloway county and holds regular services by a large congregation every third Sunday. This annual event was attended by an immense crowd.

CHAPTER XXII—Continued.

"Did you ever hear of Edwards, the surgeon?" the Edwards operation, you know. Well, he's here. It sounds like a miracle. They found him sitting on a bench in the hall downstairs. Sidney raised her head, but she could not see the miraculously found Edwards. She could see the familiar face of the staff, and that other face on the pillow, and she gave a little cry. There was K. How like him to be there, to be wherever anyone was in trouble! Tears came to her eyes—the first tears she had shed.

As if her eyes had called him, he looked up and saw her. He came toward her at once. The staff stood back to let him pass, and gazed after him. The wonder of what had happened was growing on them.

K. stood beside Sidney, and looked down at her. Just at first it seemed as if he found nothing to say. Then: "There's just a chance, Sidney, dear. Don't count too much on it. If you will wait somewhere near, I'll see that you have immediate word."

"I am going to the operating room," "Not to the operating room. Somewhere near."

His steady voice controlled her hysteria. But she resisted it. She was not herself, of course, what with strain and weariness.

"I shall ask Doctor Edwards," "He was out with Carlotta. He promised, and he broke his promise."

"There may have been reasons. Suppose we wait until he can explain." "How can he explain? And, when he hesitates, I bring all my troubles to you, as if you had none. Somehow, I can't go to Aunt Harriet, and of course—mother—Carlotta cares a great deal for him. She said that I shot him. Does anyone really think that?"

"Of course not. Please stop thinking." She stirred restlessly. "What time is it?" "Half-past six."

"I must get up and go on duty," "He was glad to be stern with her. He forbade her rising. When the nurse came in with the belated ammonia, she found K. making an arbitrary ruling, and Sidney looking up at him mutinously.

"Miss Page is not to go on duty today. She is to stay in bed until further orders." "Very well, Doctor Edwards."

The confusion in Sidney's mind cleared away suddenly. K. was Doctor Edwards! It was K. who had performed the miracle operation—K. who had dared and perhaps won! Dear K. with his steady eyes and his long surgeon's fingers! Then, because she seemed to age ahead as well as back into the past in that flash that came to the drowning and to those recovering from shock, and because she knew that now the little house would no longer be home to K., she turned her face into his pillow and cried. Her world had fallen indeed. Her lover was not true, and might be dying; his friend would go away to his own world, which was not the street. K. left her at last and went back to seventeen, where Doctor Ed still sat by the bed. Inaction was telling on him. If Max would only open his eyes, so he could tell him what had been in his mind all these years—his pride in him, and all that.

With a sort of belated desire to make up for where he had failed, he put the bag that had been Max's betel on the bedside table, and began to clear it of rubbish—odd bits of dirty cotton, the tubing from a long-defunct stethoscope, glass from a broken bottle, a scrap of paper on which was a memorandum, in his illegible writing, to send Max a check for his graduating suit. When K. came in, he had the old dog collar in his hand. "Belonged to an old collar of ours," he said heavily. "Max ran over his head and killed him. Max chased the wagon and killed the driver with his own whip."

His face worked.

"Very well, Doctor Edwards."

CHAPTER XXIII.

Max had rallied well, and things looked bright for him. His patient did not need him, but K. was anxious to find Joe; so he telephoned the gas office and got a day off.

For the present, at least, K. revealed identity was safe. Hospitals keep their secrets well. And it is doubtful if the Street would have been greatly concerned even had it known. It had never heard of Edwards, of the Edwards clinic, or the Edwards operation. Its medical knowledge comprised the two Wilsons and the osteopath around the corner. When, as would happen soon, it learned of Max Wilson's injury, it would be more concerned with his chances of recovery than with the manner of it. That was as it should be.

But Joe's affair with Sidney had been the talk of the neighborhood. If the boy disappeared, a scandal would be inevitable. Twenty people had seen him at Schwartz's and would know him again.

To save Joe, then, was K.'s first care.

At first it seemed as if the boy had frustrated him. He had not been home all night. Christine, wailing K. in the little hall, told him that.

"Mrs. Drummond was here," she said. "She is almost frantic. She says Joe has not been home all night. She says he looks up to you, and she thought if you could find him and would talk to him."

"Joe was with me last night. We had supper at the White Springs hotel. Tell Mrs. Drummond he was in good spirits, and that she's not to worry. I feel sure she will hear from him today. Something went wrong with his car, perhaps, after he left me."

He bathed and shaved hurriedly. Katie brought his coffee to his room, and he drank it standing. As he went down the street, he saw Mrs. McKee in her doorway, with a little knot of people around her. The Street was getting the night's news.

He rented a car at a local garage, and drove himself out into the country. He was not minded to have any eyes on him that day. He went to Schwartz's first. Schwartz himself was not in sight. Bill, the bartender, was scrubbing the porch, and a far hand was gathering bottles from the grass into a box. The dead lanterns swung in the morning air, and from back on the hill came the staccato sounds of a reaping machine.

"Where's Schwartz?" "At the barn," Bill grinned. He recognized K., and mopping dry a part of the porch, shoved a chair on it.

"Sit down. Well, how's the man who got his last night? Dead?" "No."

"County detectives were here bright and early. After the lady's husband, I guess we lose our license over this."

"Bill, did you see the man who fired that shot last night?" "A sort of haze came over Bill's face, as if he had dropped a curtain before his eyes. But his reply came promptly: "Surest thing in the world. Close to him as you are to me. Dark man, about thirty, small mustache."

"Bill, you're lying, and I know it. Where is he?" The bartender kept his head, but his color changed.

"I don't know anything about him." He thrust his mop into the pail. K. rose. The farmhand had filed his box and disappeared around the corner of the house. K. put his hand on Bill's shirt-sleeved arm.

"We're got to get him away from here. The county men may come back to search the premises."

"How do I know you aren't one of them?" "I guess you know I'm not. He's a friend of mine. As a matter of fact, I followed him here; but I was too late. Did he take the revolver away with him?"

"I took it from him. It's under the bar."

"Get it for me." From inside the bar Bill took a careful survey of Le Moyne. He noted his tall figure and shabby suit, the slight stoop, the hair graying over his ears. Bartenders know men: that's part of the job. After his survey he went behind the bar and got the revolver from under an overturned pail.

K. thrust it into his pocket.

"Now," he said quietly, "where is he?" "In my room—top of the house."

K. followed Bill up the stairs down which he had carried Wilson's unconscious figure. The room under the eaves was stifling. An unmade bed stood in a corner. Joe was sitting in the corner farthest from the window. When the door swung open, he looked up. He showed no interest in seeing K., who had to stoop to enter the low room.

"Hello, Joe."

"I thought you were the police. Is he dead?" "No, indeed."

"I wish I'd killed him!" "Oh, no, you don't. You're glad you didn't, so am I."

"Huh!" K. sat down on the bed. Loud calls from below took Bill out of the room. As he closed the door behind him, K.'s voice took on a new tone: "Joe, why did you do it?" "You know. Don't go into that. I did it, and I'll stand by it."

"Has it occurred to you that you made a mistake?" "Go and tell that to somebody who'll believe you!" he sneered. "They came here and took a room. I met him coming out of it. I'd do it again if I had a chance, and do it better."

"It was not Sidney."

"Aw, chuck it!" "It's a fact. I got here not two minutes after you left. The girl was still there. It was someone else. Sidney was not out of the hospital last night. She attended a lecture, and then an operation."

Joe listened. It was undoubtedly a relief to him to know that it had not been Sidney; but if K. expected any remorse, he did not get it.

"If he is that sort, he deserves what he got," said the boy grimly.

And K. had no reply. Not Joe was dead to talk. K. got it by degrees—his mad night into the darkness, until his gambling gave out; his resolve to walk back and surrender himself at Schwartz's, so that there could be no mistake as to who had committed the crime.

"I intended to write a confession and then shoot myself," he told K. "But the bartender got my gun out of my pocket. And—"

"After a pause: "Does she know who did it?"

"Sidney? No."

"Then, if he gets better, she'll marry him anyhow."

"Possibly. That's not up to us, Joe. The thing we've got to do is to hush this thing up, and get you away."

"I'd go to Cuba, but I haven't the money."

K. rose. "I think I can get it."

He turned in the doorway. "Sidney need never know who did it."

"I'm not ashamed of it." But his face showed relief.

There are times when some calamity tears down the walls of reserve between men. That time had come for Joe, and to a lesser extent for K. The boy rose and followed him to the door.

"Why don't you tell her the whole thing? The whole filthy story?" he asked. "She'd never look at him again. You're crazy about her. I haven't got a chance. It would give you one."

"I want her, God knows!" said K. "But not that way, boy."

The five thousand dollar check from Mr. Lorenz had saved Palmer House's credit. On the strength of the deposit he borrowed money at the bank with which he meant to pay his bills, arrears at the University and Country clubs, a hundred dollars lost throwing cards with poker dice, and various small obligations of Christine's.

The immediate result of the money was good. He drank nothing for a week, went into the details of the new venture with Christine's father, set at home with Christine on her balcony in the evenings. With the knowledge that he could pay his debts, he postponed the day. He liked the feeling of a bank account in four figures.

Christine had been making a fight, although her heart was only half in it. She was resolutely good-humored, ignored the past, dressed for Palmer in the things he liked. They still took their dinners at the Lorenz house up the street. When she saw that the haphazard table service there irritated him, she coerced her mother into getting a butler.

The Street sniffed at the butler behind his stately back. Secretly and in its heart, it was proud of him. With a half-dozen automobiles, and Christine Howe putting on low neck in the evenings, and now a butler, not to mention Harriet Kennedy's Mimi, it ceased to pride itself on its commonplace, ignorant of the fact that in its very lack of affection had lain its charm.

On the night that Joe shot Max Wilson, Palmer was noticeably restless. He had seen Grace Irving that day for the first time; but once, since the motor accident, the girl had a strange fascination for him. The sight of her walking sedately along in her shop-girl's black dress had been enough to set his pulses racing. When he saw that she meant to pass him, he fell into step beside her.

"I believe you were going to get me!" Still in the street?

"Yes." And, after a second's hesitation: "I'm keeping straight, too."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

"I thought you were the police."

"No, indeed."

"I wish I'd killed him!"

"Oh, no, you don't. You're glad you didn't, so am I."

"Huh!"

K. sat down on the bed. Loud calls from below took Bill out of the room. As he closed the door behind him, K.'s voice took on a new tone: "Joe, why did you do it?" "You know. Don't go into that. I did it, and I'll stand by it."

"Has it occurred to you that you made a mistake?" "Go and tell that to somebody who'll believe you!" he sneered. "They came here and took a room. I met him coming out of it. I'd do it again if I had a chance, and do it better."

"It was not Sidney."

"Aw, chuck it!"

"It's a fact. I got here not two minutes after you left. The girl was still there. It was someone else. Sidney was not out of the hospital last night. She attended a lecture, and then an operation."

Joe listened. It was undoubtedly a relief to him to know that it had not been Sidney; but if K. expected any remorse, he did not get it.

"If he is that sort, he deserves what he got," said the boy grimly.

And K. had no reply. Not Joe was dead to talk. K. got it by degrees—his mad night into the darkness, until his gambling gave out; his resolve to walk back and surrender himself at Schwartz's, so that there could be no mistake as to who had committed the crime.

"I intended to write a confession and then shoot myself," he told K. "But the bartender got my gun out of my pocket. And—"

"After a pause: "Does she know who did it?"

"Sidney? No."

"Then, if he gets better, she'll marry him anyhow."

"Possibly. That's not up to us, Joe. The thing we've got to do is to hush this thing up, and get you away."

"I'd go to Cuba, but I haven't the money."

K. rose. "I think I can get it."

He turned in the doorway. "Sidney need never know who did it."

"I'm not ashamed of it." But his face showed relief.

There are times when some calamity tears down the walls of reserve between men. That time had come for Joe, and to a lesser extent for K. The boy rose and followed him to the door.

"Why don't you tell her the whole thing? The whole filthy story?" he asked. "She'd never look at him again. You're crazy about her. I haven't got a chance. It would give you one."

"I want her, God knows!" said K. "But not that way, boy."

The five thousand dollar check from Mr. Lorenz had saved Palmer House's credit. On the strength of the deposit he borrowed money at the bank with which he meant to pay his bills, arrears at the University and Country clubs, a hundred dollars lost throwing cards with poker dice, and various small obligations of Christine's.

The immediate result of the money was good. He drank nothing for a week, went into the details of the new venture with Christine's father, set at home with Christine on her balcony in the evenings. With the knowledge that he could pay his debts, he postponed the day. He liked the feeling of a bank account in four figures.

Christine had been making a fight, although her heart was only half in it. She was resolutely good-humored, ignored the past, dressed for Palmer in the things he liked. They still took their dinners at the Lorenz house up the street. When she saw that the haphazard table service there irritated him, she coerced her mother into getting a butler.

The Street sniffed at the butler behind his stately back. Secretly and in its heart, it was proud of him. With a half-dozen automobiles, and Christine Howe putting on low neck in the evenings, and now a butler, not to mention Harriet Kennedy's Mimi, it ceased to pride itself on its commonplace, ignorant of the fact that in its very lack of affection had lain its charm.

On the night that Joe shot Max Wilson, Palmer was noticeably restless. He had seen Grace Irving that day for the first time; but once, since the motor accident, the girl had a strange fascination for him. The sight of her walking sedately along in her shop-girl's black dress had been enough to set his pulses racing. When he saw that she meant to pass him, he fell into step beside her.

"I believe you were going to get me!" Still in the street?

"Yes." And, after a second's hesitation: "I'm keeping straight, too."

PERSHING TO LEAD U.S. ARMY IN FRANCE

EXPEDITION OF 25,000 SEASONED MEN WILL EMBARK IN SHORT TIME FOR EUROPE.

SELECTIVE DRAFT ON JUNE 5

Fully 10,000,000 Men Will Be Enrolled. Army Will Be Brought To 2,000,000 and Others Used in Munitions Plants.

Washington.—President Wilson has ordered the first expeditionary force of American troops to the trenches in France. In signing the conscription bill, which provides for the recruitment of an army of 600,000 men by selective draft, the President rejected the volunteer divisions offered by Theodore Roosevelt for service in France and directed the war department to prepare a force of 25,000 regulars for immediate dispatch to the battle front. They will be the flower of the army and will be led by Gen. John J. Pershing—"Black Jack"—as he is known in the camps and cantonments of the Philippines and along the Rio Grande. Gen. Pershing, accompanied by his headquarters staff, will proceed to France at once. His command will follow as fast as their organizations are effected and equipment and transportation provided.

Every bit of machinery at the disposal of the government is now working with one object in view—to start the troops who will carry Old Glory over seas on their way at the earliest possible moment and with the very best of everything the nation affords.

The army law provides for an ultimate force of approximately 2,000,000 men to back up the first troops to go to the front. As soon as the bill was signed the president issued a proclamation calling upon all men in the country between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, to register themselves for military service on June 5.

The proclamation sets in motion immediately machinery that will enroll and sift 10,000,000 men and pave the way for the selection of the first 500,000 young, efficient soldiers without crippling the industries or commerce of the nation or bringing hardship on those at home.

RUSSIAN CRISIS IS PASSED

Council of Workmen's Delegates Accepts the Declaration of New Government.

Petrograd.—The cabinet crisis has been settled. A declaration of the government's policy has been accepted by the representatives of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, with merely slight alterations.

M. Tcheroff, national socialist, was appointed minister of agriculture, and M. Skoboleff, vice president of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, was appointed minister of labor. It was also decided to include in the government Feodor Kokoshkin, constitutional democrat, and a professor at the University of Moscow, and M. Tsereteli, member of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates. Their duty will be to prepare for the constituent assembly.

ITALIANS TAKE POSITIONS

Defeat Austrians in Gorizia After Hard Struggle—Retreating Enemy Destroy Ancient City.

Rome.—Gorizia was all but reduced to crumbling ruins by a 24-hour hail of Austrian shells. Forced steadily back by the Italians, the enemy took revenge for his defeat in pounding the city away.

From the plateau top of the summit of Monte Sacco the Austrians fired their furious blasts on the city.

Battle front stories declare that the Austrian commanders are placing live wires behind their attacking columns, forcing their men to stand firm and advance or else die by electrocution.

SPANISH CABINET IS ANGRY

Repeated Atrocities of Germans Cause Spaniards To Call Extra Session of Cabinet.

Madrid.—An extraordinary meeting of the cabinet was called immediately upon receipt of news of the sinking of the Spanish steamer Patria, of 3,500 tons.

The crew was saved, but one sailor was seriously wounded. The authorities were extremely enraged as to the result of their two-hour deliberation, but it is supposed that the cabinet decided to send another note of the most energetic character to Germany.

Good News For the Ladies. Paris.—The strike of the dressmakers of Paris ended after a conference between representatives of the workers and employers with the minister of the interior and the minister of labor.

Cleaves Paper Milla. St. John, N. F.—Inability to secure steamers to transport troops product to England has resulted in a decision of Lord Northcliffe and his associates to shut down their large paper mill at Grand Falls.

TITANIC STRUGGLE IN WORLD'S HISTORY

DESPERATE FIGHTING BY TONS IN EFFORT TO REGAIN LOST POSITIONS.

CASUALTIES ARE APPALLING

British Losses Reach 500,000. While Germans Suffer Far Greater Loss of Life Besides Valuable Guns and Equipment.

New York.—After nearly three years we have become so accustomed to terrific fighting and long battles that it is hard now to recognize in such dispatches as come to us that the climax of the fighting of the war has been reached. Nevertheless, this is the fact. Never in human history—never in the history of this most terrible of all wars—has there been anything comparable in magnitude or in intensity with the fighting which is now going on.

A greater army than that which Napoleon took to Moscow, measured numerically, has been put out of the conflict in the first month of the western offensive. Not less than 600,000 casualties measure the cost of a month of the battles of Arras and the Aisne. Compare with this 175,000 men who fought for three days on the battlefield of Gettysburg, with a casualty cost of 45,000. At Waterloo the British had 14,000, the Prussians much less and Napoleon's routed army not more than 40,000. In the greatest battle of the Franco-Prussian war not as many men were engaged on both sides as were killed, wounded and captured in the six weeks of the battle of Arras.

A casualty list such as the British are now boasting would mean a total loss for the present campaign—killed, wounded and captured—of almost a million men, and it would mean not less than a million and a half for the Germans.

It is not too much to say that in the last four months we have seen the supreme effort of the German military establishment. It has not terminated, but it has already wrought a loss which must stagger a world already accustomed to horrors by three years of war. What the Germans are now doing is not hard to discern, however difficult it may be to explain it in terms of judgment and ultimate military wisdom. Having, by reason of the combined Franco-British attack, lost the initiative, they are now seeking, by the employment of vast masses of men, to bring back the old condition of a deadlock which was broken by the British success at Arras.

All the organized lines have been broken by the British on a front of nearly 20 miles. The lines which the Germans had constructed behind this front are not comparable in strength to those that they were driven from. No longer able to hold back the attack of the British by field works and in trenches, they were compelled to change their tactics and by enormous counter-attacks to endeavor to beat down the British assault.

It is an effort of brute strength rather than strategy or tactics, and it is a desperate effort to compel a return to the old deadlock conditions which preceded the battle of Arras.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Murray woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Murray woman's experience:

Mrs. R. S. Gutchin, Poplar St. Murray, says: "My kidneys got out of order from over doing at my housework. My kidneys were irregular in action and sometimes when I awoke in the morning, my back nearly killed me. I had sharp pains through my back, also. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They relieved me and I believe them deserving of praise."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gutchin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

Adams, Radford.

Wednesday night at the home of the bride's mother, south of Paris, Jeff Adams, of Coldwater, Ky., and Miss Martha Radford, were united in marriage, Rev. D. T. Spaulding saying the ceremony in the presence of a limited number of friends. Mr. Adams is a prosperous business man of Kentucky, and his bride has a host of friends here. They left Thursday for Coldwater, Paris, Parisian.

Liberty Bonds.

The First National Bank, of Murray has purchased a lot of the United States Liberty bonds and will be glad to take orders for any amount. They are in denominations of $50.00 and up. You pay no taxes on these bonds.

A Liberty Loan Bond is a solemn promise of the United States to pay at maturity the amount of the bond to the holder thereof, and to pay interest semi-annually each year from the date of the issuance of the bond until it is full and finally paid.

The security for a Liberty Loan Bond is the faith and honor of the United States, backed by all the resources of the Nation and the American people. A Liberty Bond is a mortgage on all the resources and taxing powers of the Government and all of the resources of the American people. It is the patriotic duty of every citizen who can to purchase some of these bonds.

Married

Tuesday night on the Tennessee side near the residence of W. S. Jones, Daniel Merrell and Miss Virginia Petty were united in marriage, Rev. T. H. Davis saying the ceremony.

They are at home to their friends with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Petty. The groom is an employee of the Ball & Sagger Clay Co. here and the bride is the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Petty.—Hazel News.

Special Grand Jury for Marshall

Benton, Ky., May 21.—Judge W. M. Reed and Commonwealth Attorney, Jack E. Fisher, have called a special term of the grand jury for the purpose of inquiring into the food situation in regard to the high cost of living.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Falwell, on Main street, last Sunday in honor of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Falwell. Those present were Mesdames W. A. Vance, Bettie Sellers, Ida Wicker, Mary Jane Caraway, Mr. J. W. Falwell and Mr. N. H. Falwell together with his family came through in their car from Paducah. There were a number of other relatives and friends present and an enjoyable day was spent by all.

W. H. Finney, the big ex-real estate man, of Murray, Ky., came into Mayfield Monday in his new Dodge car and spent the day very pleasantly among his many acquaintances. He said he attended the road meeting at Paris last week, and Henry county is now becoming interested in good roads and will do her part to meet our state aid road and go to other points.—Mayfield Messenger.

John and Boss Cole and sister, Mrs. Virgil Coleman, left for Dukesboro Monday to attend the funeral of their late brother, Frank Cole. He was about fifty years old and was raised near Kirksey. Recently he has lived in Dukesboro and a message was received saying that he had been killed at Cairo in an automobile accident last Sunday.

Mr. Cole was a widower and leaves one child. A dog which was acting strangely was killed near Galen Grogan's shop one day last week. The head was sent to Bowling Green for examination and the report came Saturday night that it had rabies. It is thought that the dog came from Henry county, Tenn., and it bit a great many dogs and other animals. It would be well to muzzle all dogs and keep a watch on other animals for the next few weeks.

RAILROAD ENGINEERS OUT WITH STATEMENT

Men in the Cabs From Many States Declare That Tanlac Conserves the Health of Railroad Men and Makes Them Fit for Responsible Duties in Most Nerve-Racking Service.

NO calling demands a clearer brain, steadier nerves, a more perfect state of health than that of a railroad engineer. The safety of thousands depends on guarding his health, which is as important to the public as the efficiency of his engine. Every engineer realizes this enormous responsibility, he dares not take chances with so important a matter. That is why so many of them are using Tanlac—it steadies the nerves, clears the brain, corrects indigestion, strengthens the arm, insures the safety of the traveler, and keeps him on his job.

Railroad engineers everywhere endorse Tanlac because they have tried it and know. Read what they say.

W. L. Nabarra, Atlanta, Ga., engineer Southern Railway, says: "I had lost appetite—liver and kidneys deranged—since taking Tanlac haven't had a pain—gained 14 pounds."

L. C. Rowers, 910 First avenue, south, Nashville, Tenn., engineer Tennessee Central, says: "I'm much troubled and nervous—everything—nothing too good I can say about Tanlac—gained 8 pounds."

D. A. Middleton, 1717 Cheover Street, Houston, Tex., engineer Southern Pacific, says: "Was in bad shape—couldn't walk—Tanlac built me up like new man—gained 11 pounds."

T. G. Ayers, 107 Haines avenue, Nashville, Tenn., engineer Louisville and Nashville, says: "Kidney trouble, nervousness, poor appetite—Tanlac put me in good shape—gained 7 pounds."

J. T. Toy, Atlanta, Ga., former engineer Seaboard, says: "Nervous indigestion—kidneys in bad shape—pains in back—am satisfied with what Tanlac has done for me."

R. H. Owens, 2700 Avenue G, Birmingham, Ala., engineer, says: "Rudeness—indigestion—palpitation of heart—had to give up job—since taking Tanlac eat anything—have gone back to work."

T. G. Burrows, 3015 McKinley avenue, Houston, Texas, engineer St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico, says: "Nervous of head and stomach—headaches—nervous—Tanlac is railroad man's friend—feel like new man."

Lynn Mills, 440 North Bellevue avenue, Memphis, Tenn., engineer, Louisville and Nashville, says: "Headaches—pains in back and kidneys—strained every nerve to keep up—Tanlac relieved me entirely."

R. T. Watkins, Birmingham, Ala., engineer Southern, says: "Suffered 27 years—stomach troubles—Tanlac has ended my troubles."

G. G. Griger, 133 East Linden street, Atlanta, Ga., engineer Georgia Railroad, says: "Tanlac relieved my life of rheumatism—she gained 25 pounds from using it."

C. J. Weeks, 2130 Lydia street, Jacksonville, Fla., engineer Seaboard, says: "Suffered 20 years from nervous indigestion—Tanlac entirely relieved me—gained 20 pounds."

What He Could Do.
"I want to serve my country," said the loud-voiced man in the street car. "But I'm too old to carry a gun."

"Yes," he continued. "The way they run things down there at Washington nowadays there's no chance for a man like me. I could be mighty valuable to them if they'd only take me."

"Till tell you how you can save your country if you really want to," said the neat little man.

"All right. Tell me what to do and I'll do it."

"Just keep your mouth shut."

PRESIDENT SIGNS DRAFT MEASURE; TROOPS TO FRONT

Division Under Command of Major General Pershing.

REGULARS FIRST TO FRANCE

Executive Sets June 5 as the Date of Registration for All Men Between the Ages of 21 and 31—Respects Roosevelt Volunteer Army—Declares It Would Interfere With Present Plans.

Washington, May 21.—Vladimir rejecting that section of the measure which would permit Colonel Roosevelt to organize volunteer divisions. President Wilson signed the conscription bill. The president signed the army bill just after dinner at 3 p. m. on Friday, without formality, and set June 5 as the date of registration for all men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-one for military service.

President Issues Proclamation.
President Wilson's proclamation, putting into effect the selective draft provision of the war army bill, signed last night, follows in part:

"A proclamation by the president of the United States:
"Whereas, Congress has enacted and the president has on the 18th day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, approved a law which contains the following provisions:

"Section 5. That all male persons between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, both inclusive, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the president; and upon proclamation by the president or other public notice given by him or by his direction, stating the time and place of such registration, it shall be the duty of all persons of the designated ages, except officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the navy and the National Guard and naval militia while in the service of the United States; to present themselves for and submit to registration under the provisions of this act, and every such person shall be deemed to have notice of the requirements of this act upon the publication of said proclamation or other notice as aforesaid given by the president or by his direction; and any person who shall willfully fail or refuse to present himself for registration or to submit thereto as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, and shall thereupon be duly registered; provided, that in the call of the docket precedence shall be given, in courts trying the same, to the trial of criminal proceedings under this act: Provided further, that persons shall be subject to registration as herein provided, who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday and who shall not have attained their thirty-first birthday on or before the day set for registration, and all persons so registered shall be and remain subject to draft into the force hereby authorized, unless exempted or excused therefrom as in this act provided.

Registration on June 5.
"Now, therefore, I Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, do call upon the governor of each of the several states and territories, the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia and all officers and agents of the several states and territories, of the District of Columbia and of the counties and municipalities therein to perform certain duties in the execution of the foregoing law, which duties will be communicated to them directly in regulations of even date herewith.

"And I do further proclaim and give notice to all persons subject to registration in the several states and in the District of Columbia in accordance with the above law that the time and place of such registration shall be between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on the 5th day of June, 1917, at the registration place in the precinct wherein they have their permanent homes. Those who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday and who shall not have attained their thirty-first birthday on or before the day set for registration, and all persons so registered shall be and remain subject to draft into the force hereby authorized, unless exempted or excused therefrom as in this act provided.

"The power, against which we are arrayed has sought to impose its will upon the world by force. To this end it has increased armament until it has changed the face of war. In the sense in which we have been wont to think of armies there are no armies in this struggle. There are entire nations armed. Thus, the men who remain to till the soil and man the factories are no less a part of the army but in France than the men hence in the battle line. It must be so with us. It is not an army that we must shape and train for war; it is a nation. To this end our people must draw close in one compact front against a common foe. But this cannot be if each man pursues a private purpose. All must pursue one purpose.

"The nation needs all men, but it needs each man, not in the field that will most please him, but in the endeavor that will best serve the common good.

"It is in no sense a conscription of the unwilling—it is rather selected from a nation which has volunteered in mass.

"The day here named is the time upon which all shall present themselves for assignment to their tasks.

"It is essential that the day be approached in thoughtful apprehension of its significance and that we accord to it the honor and the meaning that it deserves. Our industrial need prescribes that it be not made a technical holiday, but the stern sacrifices that is before us urges that it be carried in all our hearts as a great day of patriotic devotion and obligation when the duty shall lie upon every man, whether he is himself to be registered or not, to see to it that the name of every male person of the designated ages is written on these lists of honor.

"By the president:
"ROBERT LANSING,
"Secretary of State."

President Wilson directed that an expeditionary force of approximately a division of regular troops, under command of Maj. Gen. John J. Pershing, proceed to France as early as a date as practicable. General Pershing and staff will precede the troops.

A division contains approximately 28,000 men. It is understood that at least 20,000 will be infantry.

The war bill was carefully gone over during the day by Brigadier General Crowder, judge advocate general and provost marshal general.

It was announced that all existing regulations of the guard will be called into service by August 5, and officials estimate that with from a month to six weeks' intensive training these troops will be ready to go forward for their preparation behind the fighting lines in Europe for the fighting that is before them.

After the army bill had been perfected in both houses of congress and sent to President Wilson for signature the senate adopted an amendment to the war budget bill to put conscription out of force four months after the end of the war.

President's Statement.

The president issued the following statement at the White House:
"I shall not avail myself, at any rate at the present stage of the war, of the authorization conferred by the act to organize volunteer divisions."

"To do so would seriously interfere with the carrying out of the chief and most immediately important purpose contemplated by this legislation:

"The prompt creation and early use of an effective army would contribute practically nothing to the effective strength of the armies now engaged against Germany."

"I understand that the section of this act which authorizes the creation of volunteer divisions in addition to the draft was added with a view to providing an independent command for Mr. Roosevelt and giving the military authorities an opportunity to use his fine vigor and enthusiasm recruiting the forces now at the western front."

"It would be very agreeable to me to pay Mr. Roosevelt this compliment and to allow the compliment of sending to their aid some of our most distinguished public men, an ex-president, who has rendered many conspicuous public services and proved his gallantry in many striking ways.

"Politically, too, it would no doubt have a very fine effect and make a profound impression. But this is not the time or the occasion for compliments or for any action not calculated to contribute to the immediate success of the war."

Seeks Advice From Both Sides.
"The business now in hand is undramatic, practical and of scientific effectiveness and precision."

"I shall act with regard to it at every step and in every particular under expert and professional advice, from both sides of the water."

Says He Is Responsible.
"He named many of those whom he desired to have designated for the service and they were men who cannot possibly be spared from the few small force of officers at our command for the much more pressing and necessary duties of training regular troops to be put into the field in France and Belgium as fast as they can be got ready."

"The first troops sent to France will be taken from the present force of the regular army and will be under the command of trained soldiers only."

"The responsibility for the successful conduct of our part in this great enterprise rests upon me—I should not escape it if I would. I am too much interested in the cause we are fighting for to be interested in anything but success."

"The issues involved are too immense for me to take into consideration anything whatever except the best, most effective, most immediate means of military action. What these means are I know from the mouths of men who have seen war as it is conducted—who have no illusions and to whom the whole grim matter is a matter of dogma. I shall confer my attention upon those matters and let everything else wait. I should be deeply to blame should I do otherwise, whatever the argument of policy or of personal gratification of advantage."

You Take No Chances in Buying a Saxon

You may buy a Saxon believing it to be the best car in its class and you will get what you pay for.

You may look for longer service, better performance and lower up-keep bills from your Saxon than from any other car of like price. And you will not be disappointed.

If there was any doubt that Saxon cars are the best in their respective divisions it has long since disappeared.

And the proof of this you will find, a thousand-fold over, in the records of Saxon owners—and in the opinion of motor-car buyers in general. Saxon cars have definitely established their superiority in every phase of motor car performance.

And just as surely and decisively as they have proved themselves able acting cars, have they proved themselves cheaper cars to keep up.

To build cars of such quality and such value clearly reflects the strength and soundness and ability of the Saxon organization.

The Value of Second Thought.

The other night a friend of ours went to a formal party, all duded up for the occasion. He had blown him self for a new silk hat, in fact, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Presumably he had a good time at the party. When he left, he was jaunty—so much so that he made a literal faux pas, which means a false step. He slipped on the sidewalk and sat down on that perfectly good silk hat.

He was good and mad. The hat was new, and fitted him perfectly. He swore with great bitterness and for several minutes. But that did him no good. It was after he had ceased to curse that a bright thought struck him. He looked at the bam lid closely. He smiled.

He sneaked back into the house he had just left, laid the ruined chapane on a chair in the hall, took his own hat from the peg where it was hanging—and left again.

NO SUMMER SCHOOL AT U. OF K.

Ky. Odd Fellows Meet and Prepare for National Meeting at Louisville—Concentration Camp at Lexington is Possible—Borger to Have Agent.

Summer school will be cut out at the University of Kentucky, at Lexington, this summer. It has been announced by the executive committee of the board of trustees, because of the problems growing out of the war conditions. Uncertainty of a sufficient number of students to justify the holding of a summer session was the chief factor in the decision to discontinue the term.

The Kentucky Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F., which met in Frankfort, last week, decided to do its "bit" in the entertainment of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, which convenes in Louisville September 17, and will give the representatives a trip to Mammoth Cave. The encampment voted not to change the meeting time to October, and those Mayville for the session of May 14, 1918.

In a letter received from the army's Central Department headquarters at Chicago by Secretary Denny B. Gooden, of the Lexington Board of Commerce, is the following: "Indications are now that it is possible a larger camp will be built at Lexington than was at first thought, and it is not beyond hope that there may be a concentration camp at Lexington."

Responding to a movement which was given definite form as a result of a number of lectures delivered by Prof. Clark and Prof. Baird, of Berea College, who sought, in behalf of their college, the fiscal court of Morgan county appropriated $200 toward the salary of a county agent.

Frankfort women who have been working in relays in the sewing room of the First Christian church annex have completed the first box of hospital supplies for the French soldiers and it is being packed for shipment.

Commanderies from all sections of the state were represented at Covington at the seventeenth annual state convocation, Knights Templar. One of the features was the presentation of a large silk flag to the Masonic Temple association with exhibition drills following.

John P. Sasborn, Lexington horse trainer, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court, Frankfort, listing assets of $410 and liabilities of $3,505.

The old Lexington Club distillery, near Nicholasville, which has been run every year for sixty years, has closed down. The plant belongs to a Cincinnati firm, and has been offered to the government for war use.

Rev. Roud Shaw, evangelist, of Frankfort, assisted by Mrs. Shaw, are at West Liberty, giving a series of revival meetings in the Christian church.

A patriotic mass meeting, under auspices of the Carrollton Woman's Club, was held at the courthouse there last Saturday, at which time a Red Cross society was organized. Miss Nannie Lee Frayser, of Louisville, delivered the address.

Government surveyors are at work surveying the four principal public roads leading from Marion. The surveys extend four miles on each road. The sixteen miles of turnpike will be the first to be built in the county.

Creditors of the Barringer-McKight Wholesale Leather and Harness Co., of Louisville, filed a petition in bankruptcy against the company. Their claims total several thousands dollars. The concern has assets of $14,000 and liabilities of $11,000.

John R. Downing, vice president of the Phoenix-Third National bank of Lexington, was elected treasurer of the University of Kentucky at a meeting of the executive committee of that institution.

The union tinners of Ashland are on a strike on account of the boss tinners refusing to pay them $4 a day for an eight-hour day. They have been receiving 37½ cents to 45 cents an hour.

Carlsbad. A flag, five by twenty feet, was raised over the courthouse here by the Fiscal Court. A large electric flag has been ordered, and will also be placed on the courthouse.

Madisonville. A. D. Sisk, one of the leading business men of Madisonville, died following an illness of but a few days of typhoid fever. He had been engaged in the book and stationery business here for the past thirty years.

Frankfort.—A large tent has been erected on Chapsalpe for the animal fair which will be held here for the benefit of the starving Belgian and French children. Animals of all kinds, even imported and pedigreed dogs and cats and some wild animals will be shown.

Lancaster.—Joseph E. Robinson, City Attorney, has warned the idlers that they will be prosecuted under the vagrancy law. Chief of Police L. E. Heron is making a list of the unemployed and will bring them before the court unless they find employment at once, he says.

Barbourville.—Knox county, Kentucky, will be ready with her part of the Dixie Highway when it is needed by the government in the service of the nation, is the pledge of service made by Magistrate V. D. Jackson, of Barbourville for himself and other members of the Fiscal Court.

Frankfort.—Miss Auburna Chinn, district home demonstration agent, demonstrated bread making with soy bean, sweet potato and corn meal mixed with wheat flour at the high school. It was her third demonstration in the county and this is the first county in which the work has been done.

Lexington.—Capt. J. R. Howard, of this city, was elected as state commander of the Kentucky G. A. R. at the annual encampment at Williamsburg. Other officers chosen were Andrew Offutt, Lebanon, senior vice commander; E. R. Burton, Williamsburg, junior vice commander; John Talbert Ford, chaplain.

Harrodsburg.—At a mass meeting here a reward of $100 was offered for the apprehension of the person or persons who dynamited the negro Methodist church. Circuit Court is in session and Judge C. A. Hardin has made a strong charge to the grand jury to make a vigorous investigation of the case.

Bowling Green.—At a gathering of citizens of Somerset and Putnam counties, assembled in the history of the city, a general patriotic celebration and flag-raising was held in the public square. A crowd estimated at fully 5,000 cheered and waved flags as the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

Louisville.—Seven of the medical students of the University of Louisville, who were awarded commissions as assistant surgeons in the navy, with the rank of first lieutenant, were ordered to report for training. Their work at the training places will be substituted for their work at the university.

Frankfort.—Campbell James, a well-known surveyor of Frankfort, is in Washington, where he has just succeeded in filing a patent on an improved adding machine. He also will secure a patent on an improved voting machine. His models are being made by the Farrows Arms Co., of Washington.

Frankfort.—Students of the Kentucky Normal and Industrial Institute, colored, decided at chapel meeting that after attending a memorial exercise at the Frankfort Cemetery on Decoration Day they will work the gardens of aged or poor people, who desire it done, particularly the gardens of veterans.

Lexington.—The Strollers dramatic organization of the University of Kentucky, elected Emory L. Frasier, of Lawrenceburg, president; Miss Eliza Spurrier, of Louisville, vice president, and Grover French, of Pineville, secretary-treasurer. Frasier's election adds another college honor to a long list which he now holds.

Frankfort.—The Bickett Coal & Coke Co., of Illinois, brought suit in the Federal Court here to require the Detroit-Kentucky Coal Co., which has 1,000 acres leased in Pike county, to increase its capital from $50,000 to $100,000, add B. G. Tighe and C. A. Bickett to its directorate and issue $51,000 of its capital stock to B. G. Tighe and deliver its entire output of coal to the Bickett company, according to a contract alleged in the suit.

Louisville.—The Kentucky Billposters' Association, in convention here, voted to hold the next session of the association at Lexington. The meeting will be held on the day following the 1918 spring races.

Lagrange.—A general jail delivery was averted by Jailer Taylor, who used a large club. At an early hour, when the jailer was feeding the prisoners and while the jail door was open, the prisoners, eight in number, came forward in a body and attempted to escape.

Morgantown.—A large flag has been raised in the top of the courthouse. The flag was purchased by public subscription. Speeches were made by Judge McKenzie-Moss, of Bowling Green, Capt. N. T. Howard and the Hon. W. A. Helm.

Government surveyors are at work surveying the four principal public roads leading from Marion. The surveys extend four miles on each road. The sixteen miles of turnpike will be the first to be built in the county.

Creditors of the Barringer-McKight Wholesale Leather and Harness Co., of Louisville, filed a petition in bankruptcy against the company. Their claims total several thousands dollars. The concern has assets of $14,000 and liabilities of $11,000.

John R. Downing, vice president of the Phoenix-Third National bank of Lexington, was elected treasurer of the University of Kentucky at a meeting of the executive committee of that institution.

The union tinners of Ashland are on a strike on account of the boss tinners refusing to pay them $4 a day for an eight-hour day. They have been receiving 37½ cents to 45 cents an hour.

The ordinance providing for a three-cent street railway fare in the city of Newport passed by a majority of the voters of that city after it had been adopted by the sinking commission, was declared to be invalid by the court of appeals.

The Confederate pension roll in Kentucky totals $54,384 every three months. Thirty-eight names have been added to the list since the last installment was paid.

Commencement exercises for the Cloverport high school were held last Friday night. The address was delivered by Prof. O. L. Reid, of Louisville.

R. L. Warren, a graduate of the University of Missouri, has been appointed county farm demonstration agent for Franklin county, succeeding R. H. Felts, who went to Tennessee.

Last Saturday was observed in Cloverport as Good Roads Day. The committee that had charge of the program was composed of H. L. Stader, D. R. Phelps, W. H. Dafforn, Frank Mattingly and Marion Weatherholt.

Carlsbad. A flag, five by twenty feet, was raised over the courthouse here by the Fiscal Court. A large electric flag has been ordered, and will also be placed on the courthouse.

Madisonville. A. D. Sisk, one of the leading business men of Madisonville, died following an illness of but a few days of typhoid fever. He had been engaged in the book and stationery business here for the past thirty years.

Frankfort.—A large tent has been erected on Chapsalpe for the animal fair which will be held here for the benefit of the starving Belgian and French children. Animals of all kinds, even imported and pedigreed dogs and cats and some wild animals will be shown.

Lancaster.—Joseph E. Robinson, City Attorney, has warned the idlers that they will be prosecuted under the vagrancy law. Chief of Police L. E. Heron is making a list of the unemployed and will bring them before the court unless they find employment at once, he says.

Barbourville.—Knox county, Kentucky, will be ready with her part of the Dixie Highway when it is needed by the government in the service of the nation, is the pledge of service made by Magistrate V. D. Jackson, of Barbourville for himself and other members of the Fiscal Court.

Frankfort.—Miss Auburna Chinn, district home demonstration agent, demonstrated bread making with soy bean, sweet potato and corn meal mixed with wheat flour at the high school. It was her third demonstration in the county and this is the first county in which the work has been done.

Lexington.—Capt. J. R. Howard, of this city, was elected as state commander of the Kentucky G. A. R. at the annual encampment at Williamsburg. Other officers chosen were Andrew Offutt, Lebanon, senior vice commander; E. R. Burton, Williamsburg, junior vice commander; John Talbert Ford, chaplain.

Harrodsburg.—At a mass meeting here a reward of $100 was offered for the apprehension of the person or persons who dynamited the negro Methodist church. Circuit Court is in session and Judge C. A. Hardin has made a strong charge to the grand jury to make a vigorous investigation of the case.

Bowling Green.—At a gathering of citizens of Somerset and Putnam counties, assembled in the history of the city, a general patriotic celebration and flag-raising was held in the public square. A crowd estimated at fully 5,000 cheered and waved flags as the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

Louisville.—Seven of the medical students of the University of Louisville, who were awarded commissions as assistant surgeons in the navy, with the rank of first lieutenant, were ordered to report for training. Their work at the training places will be substituted for their work at the university.

Frankfort.—Campbell James, a well-known surveyor of Frankfort, is in Washington, where he has just succeeded in filing a patent on an improved adding machine. He also will secure a patent on an improved voting machine. His models are being made by the Farrows Arms Co., of Washington.

Frankfort.—Students of the Kentucky Normal and Industrial Institute, colored, decided at chapel meeting that after attending a memorial exercise at the Frankfort Cemetery on Decoration Day they will work the gardens of aged or poor people, who desire it done, particularly the gardens of veterans.

Lexington.—The Strollers dramatic organization of the University of Kentucky, elected Emory L. Frasier, of Lawrenceburg, president; Miss Eliza Spurrier, of Louisville, vice president, and Grover French, of Pineville, secretary-treasurer. Frasier's election adds another college honor to a long list which he now holds.

Frankfort.—The Bickett Coal & Coke Co., of Illinois, brought suit in the Federal Court here to require the Detroit-Kentucky Coal Co., which has 1,000 acres leased in Pike county, to increase its capital from $50,000 to $100,000, add B. G. Tighe and C. A. Bickett to its directorate and issue $51,000 of its capital stock to B. G. Tighe and deliver its entire output of coal to the Bickett company, according to a contract alleged in the suit.

Louisville.—The Kentucky Billposters' Association, in convention here, voted to hold the next session of the association at Lexington. The meeting will be held on the day following the 1918 spring races.

Lagrange.—A general jail delivery was averted by Jailer Taylor, who used a large club. At an early hour, when the jailer was feeding the prisoners and while the jail door was open, the prisoners, eight in number, came forward in a body and attempted to escape.

Morgantown.—A large flag has been raised in the top of the courthouse. The flag was purchased by public subscription. Speeches were made by Judge McKenzie-Moss, of Bowling Green, Capt. N. T. Howard and the Hon. W. A. Helm.

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost you must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothes and beautifies. Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati man tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted off, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY, IT SICKENS! STOP USING SALIVATING DRUG

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Your Liver is Sluggish or Bowels Constipated Take "Dodson's Liver Tonic"—It's Final!

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into your bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tonic. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine; your liver will be working; your headache and distress gone; your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children! Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tonic instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.—Adv.

REGISTRATION DAY

and all persons designated or appointed under regulations prescribed by the President, whether such appointments are made by the president himself or by the governor or other officers of a State or Territory, to perform any duty in the execution of this act are hereby required to perform such duty as the President shall order or direct, and all such officers, agents, and persons so designated or appointed shall hereby have full authority for all acts done by them in the execution of this act by the direction of the president.

President's Demand.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, do call upon the government of each of the several states and territories, the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, the officers and agents of the several states, territories and the District of Columbia, and the counties and municipalities therein to perform certain duties in the execution of the foregoing law, which duties will be communicated to them directly in regulations of even date herewith.

"And I authorize and proclaim and give notice to all persons subject to registration in the several states and the District of Columbia, in accordance with above law, that the time and place of such registration shall be between 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. the 5th day of June, 1917, at the registration place in the precinct wherein they have permanent homes.

Those Whom Law Takes.

Those who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday and who shall not have attained their thirty-first birthday on or before the day named are required to register, excepting only officers and enlisted men of the regular army, navy, Marine Corps, National Guards and naval militia, while in the service of the United States; officers in the Officers Reserve Corps and enlisted men in the enlisted reserve corps, while in active service.

Territories' Call Later.

"In the territories of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, a day of registration will be named in a later proclamation.

"And I do charge those who through sickness shall be unable to present themselves for registration that they apply on or before the day of registration to the County Clerk of the county wherein they may be for instructions how they may be registered by agent. Those who expect to be absent on the day named from the counties in which they have their permanent homes may register by mail, but the mailed registration cards must reach the places in which they have permanent homes by the day named herein. They should apply as soon as practicable to the County Clerk of the county wherein they may be for instructions how they may accomplish registration by mail.

"In case such persons, as through sickness or absence, may be unable to present themselves personally for registration and cannot be sojourning in cities of over 30,000 population, they shall apply to the City Clerk of the city wherein they may be sojourning rather than to the clerk of the county.

"Clerks of the counties and cities of 30,000 population in which numerous applications from sick and from non-residents are expected are authorized to establish such agencies and employ and deputize such practical force as may be necessary to accommodate applications.

Logic of Draft Army

"The power against which we are arrayed has sought to impose its will upon the world by force. To this end it has increased its armament until it has changed the face of the world. In the sense in which we have been wont to think of armies, there are no armies in this struggle. There are entire nations armed.

"Thus men who remain to till the soil and men in the factories are no less a part of the army than those in France; than the men beneath the battle flags. It must be so with us. It is not an army we must shape and train for war; it is a nation. To this end our people must draw close in one compact front against a common foe.

One Purpose for All.

"But this cannot be if each man pursues his private purpose. All must pursue one purpose. The nation needs all men, but needs each man not in the field that will win—please him but in the endeavor that will beat the enemy. The nation is being served only when the sharpshooter marches and the machine gunner works at his levers.

"The whole nation must be a team in which each man shall play the part for which he is best fitted. To this end, Congress has provided that the nation shall be organized for war by selection—that each man shall be classified for service in the place to which it shall best serve the general good to call him.

No No-Service Conscript.

"The significance of this cannot be overstated. It is a new thing in our history: a landmark in every progress. It is a new manner of accepting and vitalizing our duty to give ourselves with thoughtful devotion to the common purpose of us all. It is in no sense a conscription of the unwilling. It is, rather, a selection from a nation which has volunteered in mass. It is no more choosing from those who shall march with the colors than it is a selection of those who shall serve equally the necessary and devoted purpose in the industries that lie behind the battle line.

A Day to Remember.

"The day here named is the time upon which all shall present themselves for assignment to their tasks. It is for that reason destined to be remembered as one of the most conspicuous moments in our history. It is nothing less than the day upon which the manhood of our country shall step forward in one solid rank in defense of the ideals to which this nation is consecrated.

Must Be No Gaps.

"It is important to these ideals no less than to the pride of this generation in manifesting its devotion to them, that there be no gaps in the ranks. It is essential that the day be approached in thoughtful apprehension of its significance; that we accord to it the honor and meaning it deserves. Our industrial need prescribes that it be not made a technical holiday, but the stern sacrifice that is before us urges that it be carried in all our hearts as a great day of patriotic devotion to obligation and duty shall be upon every man, whether or he himself be registered or not, to see to it that the name of every male person of designated ages is written on these lists of honor.

"I witness, whereof I have hereunto put my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Seventeen, of the independence of the United States of America, the One Hundred and Forty-first.

By the President:

Robert Lansing,

Secretary of State.

Possible Exemptions from Draft.

County and municipal officials, custom house clerks, persons employed by the United States in the transmission of the mails, artificers and workmen employed in the armories, arsenals and navy yards of the United States and such other persons employed in the service of the United States as the President may designate; pilots, mariners actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States, persons engaged in industries, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment or the effective operation of the military forces of the United States; national interests during the emergency; those in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge inadvisable, and those found physically or morally deficient.

No exemption or exclusion shall continue when a cause therefor no longer exists. Provided, that notwithstanding the exemptions enumerated herein, each state, territory, and the District of Columbia shall be required to supply its quota in the proportion that its population bears to the total population of the United States.

$3,000,000 Fire in Atlanta, Ga.

Several square miles of residential section in Northeastern Atlanta was swept by fire late Monday afternoon. Many fine residences were destroyed, the flames getting beyond the control of the fire department and raging over a great section without hindrance. Thousands are homeless. The loss was estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. One woman died from shock. The fire at no point was nearer than Peachtree street the main thoroughfare of the city.

Mob Puts Torch to Negro.

Memphis, Tenn., May 22.—En Persons, a negro, confessed murderer of Antoinette Rappal several weeks ago, was burned to death near the scene of the crime at 9 o'clock today. A mob estimated at from 2,000 to 3,000 of Washington this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Seventeen, of the independence of the United States of America, the One Hundred and Forty-first.

In preparation for burning, the body was soaked in oil and afterward suspended in midair from a limb of a nearby tree. A torch was then applied and the body burned fiercely until the scorched flesh of the negro fell to the ground.

Persons is said to have repeated his confession that he killed the child, and implicated two other negroes. Members of the mob immediately set out in pursuit of them.

When all was in readiness Mrs. Rappal, mother of the dead girl, was taken to the bridge where the prisoner was held and identified him. In a short speech to the mob, she declared she wished persons to suffer the tortures he dealt to his victim.

Persons confessed that he killed and beheaded Antoinette Rappal near Memphis, recently. He was taken from Memphis a day or two ago, where he was taken a few days ago for safe keeping.

A dispatch from Potts Camp, Miss., stated that a mob of several thousand men met the train with the negro aboard, overpowered the guard and carried him to an automobile after securing their intention of burning him. Potts Camp is about fifty miles from Memphis.

COM-CEL-SAR WINS AGAIN

Read the startling testimony of this well known Louisville gentleman. I tell you it is wonderful what the blessed Roots and Herbs are doing. Don't wait too long, don't wait until death has already laid hold upon you. Till you have no vitality left, but begin right now to use the means God and Nature intended you to use to overcome disease, and the victory shall be yours.

To whom it may concern:

"Eighteen months ago I suffered a severe nervous breakdown, it being so serious it became necessary for me to resign my position as shop foreman of the Ford Motor Company. Three doctors could give me no relief, also tried eight or ten patent medicines with no results. Was pretty well discouraged when a very particular friend, Dr. Richard Kendall, persuaded me to try COM-CEL-SAR. This was about six months ago, and in that time COM-CEL-SAR has done wonders for me. It has restored my normal good health, have gained lots in weight, and feel as fit as I ever did. COM-CEL-SAR, in my opinion, is the best medicine in the world. I can sincerely recommend it to friends and fellow citizens. It is a real Nature's tonic, THAT CAN BE USED WITHOUT ALCOHOL.
